

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to the isolation of members of fungal-specific kinase families and their use in identifying compounds that modulate kinase activity and the use of those compounds as antifungal agents for therapeutic treatments and medicaments in animals and plants.